Miss Palmer has become interested in the Silk Colony at Odenton, and will have charge of the cocoonery there this summer.

We have only ten more SILK FARMS to sell at $300 each. They will double in value next year. It is not necessary for a person to live there in order to derive a benefit, as we make the crop and sell it for each purchaser, charging only a small per cent for the work.

This investment will pay better than stocks, bonds or ground rents, and every year will double its value.

The contents of the document are, therefore, known only to a few members of the New York yacht club, and will not be revealed to the general public until they have been officially received. Yesterday afternoon Chairman a majority of the committeemen, but failed. Those present thereupon requested the ex-commodore not to call any more meetings. Tonight the entire correspondence between the America's cup committee and the Earl of Dunraven will be laid before a special meeting of the New York yacht club. The letters received last Monday by Secretary Oddie and Mr. Smith will be included in the report. Irrespective of those official letters, a communication was received in the Servia's mail by a prominent yachtsman from the challenger, who is a personal friend of the recipient. The latter was seen yesterday, and, although objecting to being quoted, he willingly gave the purport of his private letter. In it Lord Dunraven expresses his surprise that so many unfounded and conflicting rumors have been circulating on both sides of the Atlantic. Not only, he on both sides of the Atlantic. Not only, he says, is there no basis for the story that he had withdrawn his challenge, but, on the contrary, he will without doubt come over here and sail in all available races, including the America's cup series. The earl finally assures his friends that the discussion of the "sportsmanlike qualities" of both challengers and defenders has sorely tried his patience.

DISTRICT GOVERNMENT.

ORDERING THE REMOVAL OF HOUSES FROM A

March 21 last Building Inspector Entwisle wrote a letter to the occupants of the frame houses on Prospect, between 37th and 38th streets (Georgetown), stating that in view of the fact that their houses were upon a public street it would be necessary for them to remove them within thirty days. The houses in question are situated just south of Georgetown college grounds, and have been in their present location upward of fifteen years. The occupants refused to move the houses, and the building inspector referred the matter to the Commissioners, who in turn submitted it to Attorney ioners, who in turn submitted it to Attorney sioners, who in turn submitted it to Attorney Riddle for his opinion as to the course they should pursue. The attorney recommended that the Commissioners issue orders directing the removal of the houses within thirty days, and if at the expiration of that time the houses were not moved, to instruct the major of police to sleat the tenants and allow the superintendto eject the tenants and allow the superintend-ent of streets to remove them. Such an order was issued to-day.

Mr. Webb Ejects Unwelcome Visitors. Commissioner Webb this morning ejected two visitors from his room. It seems that they were former occupants of the almshouse and came to complain of the treatment they received at the hands of Superintendent Stouten-Stoutenburgh appeared. This was the signal for renewed denunciation of the intendant, which finally became so vigorous and unpleasant that Special Officer Mulhall was called to the rescue.

A Batch of Boy Vagrants Captured. Four colored boys were in the dock of the Police Court to-day charged with being vagrants and suspicious persons. They were arrested about 2 o'clock this morning by Policeman Chamberlain, who found them asleep on a lumber pile near the river. The first boy called up by the judge was Eli Tolson.

"How old are you?" asked the judge.
"Sixteen years," he replied. "How many times have you been here in three months?" the judge asked.
"Three times," he replied. The boy went on to explain that he went to the river last night with his companions to fish, and after throwing his catfish bait overboard he fell asleep.

"Did you say you had been in court three times during the past three months?" asked the judge.
"Yes, sir," he replied. "And each time you told the same story," added the judge, "you can go down for two months."

Richard Brown responded. He told the same story but did not remember what he was arrested for the last time or when he was last arrested. A similar sentence was imposed. Edward Ford was the next boy who responded. This, he said, was his first experience in the Police Court. He went with the other boys to see them fish. He had no line of his own. The judge told him that if he followed the other boys he was liable to wind up in the penitentiary. He was released on his personal bonds. James Brown was one of the fishermen, but he had not had a bite when the policeman sur-prised him. He had not been arrested before for six months and he then served thirty days in jail. He was also given sixty days in jail. He was also given sixty days.

THE APOSTLE OF THE LEPERS. Volunteers to Fill Father Damien's Place.

From the New York Times. The work of Father Damien, whose death was recorded recently, will not die with him. Already the Rev. Father Wendolin Moellers, of Belgium, is on his way to Molokai, where Father Conrardy has assumed the burden to which on a similar charge. He was defended by Father Damien, for years past, had been tied. Since 1886 Father Conrardy has been perform-Special Policeman Cook gave evidence against ing the work begun by Father Damien. His unassuming ways and self-As in the previous cases brought against Mr. denial made him a favorite in Oregon and many were the efforts made to disfrom his purpose.

At Kalawoa, where Father Damien died and Father Conrardy labors, there are as yet no assistants, but at a place called Kakatoo, about a mile from the business part of Honolulu, there is a branch hospital, originally intended to be a place where persons suspected of being leprous were to be kept for examination. This hospital is in charge of seven sisters of charity, who left Syracuse, N. Y., in 1883. Owing to the burden imposed on Father Damien they have lately taken charge of the female patients, and in the barriels have in the female patients. in the branch hospital there are cases as bad as Miss Nellie Flavin, a Liverpool girl, however is the only woman who has yet volunteered to labor in the dreaded spot at Kalawoa, consecrated by the work of "the apostle of the lepers." She passed through New York several weeks ago and her presence became known through the action of the costom-house authorities, who seized the vestments she had brought for the use of Father Damien. She rebrought for the use of Father Damien. She re-fused to speak about herself, and many were of the opinion that her story was a subterfuge to obtain free admission of the vestments. They were shipped to San Francisco to be given to her at her departure from that port, and her English friends had a brief sketch of her life published as an answer to the charge of the custom house authorities.

The Liverpool Catholic Times. just to hand, tells who she is: "Nellie Flavin is highly accomplished, well educated, and very well known in many well-informed Catholic circles in Liverpool. Thoroughly taught at the boarding school of the Faithful Companions of Jesus, Dee House, Chester, she became a daily governess, some time after leaving school, to the family of Mr. Pierce, Beaver house, Linnet lane, Setton park Liverpool, and remained in the Sefton park, Liverpool, and remained in that family until 1886, when she left for London to undergo there a course of hospital training. Miss Nellie Flavin is a brilliant pianiste, and is of an amiable, energetic, and resolute disposi-tion. She has broken many strong ties to de-vote her life to the service of God's most afflicted creatures, and has left behind her a mother, sister and brother, as well as many friends, holding her in their heart of hearts.

FATHER CONBARDY. To Father Conrardy the world will now direct its attention. Everywhere funds are being collected and goods gathered to ship to Molokai, Father Callaghan of Castle garden has just sent a consignment of linen and is receiving contributions of that character. "I am now in Sometimes, when I am kneeling by the side of a poor leper. from whom exhales an odor that would put the most courageous to flight. I often think I am doing a little of my purgatory. What do you think? Regularly every week a small steamer makes its appearance here, and very early in the morning announces by the loud blowing of its whistle that lepers have been landed. Then those who can hurry to the shore. Often we find our newcomers soaking wet through. we find our newcomers soaking wet through. Now again begin the cries and tears, for one see here the meeting again of a husband and wife, or a wife seeing her husband among them; sometimes a child seeing its father or mother. They take the names of the new arrivals and every one sets out to find a lodging. Al-though I am not a leper, I could not leave here to go to any other of these islands without a proper certificate from the board of health. But I have no wish to go anywhere. My mis-sion is here and here I'll remain."

A Singular Freak. West Virginia offers a very singular specimen of liliputian humanity in the daughter of John E. Miller, of Hampshire county. She is twenty-three years of age, cannot walk or talk and is but 26 inches tall. Always lying in a little but 26 inches tall. Always lying in a little cradle, she is enabled to keep a sharp lookout on all that is going on; no one has yet been sharp enough to call for an article in the house that the little one could not point out. Her memory is most remarkable. A new song or poem repeated in her presence is never forgotten. If the same song or poem is again repeated or sung with the variation of but a single word the little prodigy will show her disapproval by yelling lustly and frowning a frown that cannot be mistaken. How such a remarkable memory can find resting place in a head no larger than a teacup has long been the wonder of physicians and savants who have journeyed
